

EQUALITY & DIVERSITY POLICY

OLD PALACE PRIMARY SCHOOL

EQUALITY AND DIVERSITY POLICY

1. Aims

This policy sets out Old Palace Primary School's commitment to promoting equality and diversity. We aim to ensure that pupils, employees, parents/ carers, governors, multi-agency staff, contractors and visitors to school are treated fairly, and with dignity and respect.

We believe that equality at our school should permeate all aspects of school life and is the responsibility of every member of the school and the wider community.

Every member of the school community should feel safe, secure, valued and of equal worth. We wish to provide an environment which is free from unlawful discrimination, harassment or victimization of any kind and in which all feel safe, supported and valued as individuals.

We actively tackle discrimination and seek to recognise and celebrate diversity within the local and global community, in order to promote good relations and foster positive attitudes to all people of all backgrounds.

This policy sets out how the school aims to meet its obligations under the public sector equality duty by having due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimization
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it
- Foster good relations across all characteristics – between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it

2. Legislation

This policy meets the requirements under the following legislation and guidance:

- The Equality Act 2010, which introduced the public sector equality duty and protects people from discrimination
- The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2011, which require schools to publish information to demonstrate how they are complying with the public sector equality duty and to publish equality objectives
- Department for Education (DfE) guidance: The Equality Act 2010 and schools.

And encompasses the following 'Protected Characteristics' set out in the Equality Act:

1. Age
2. Disability
3. Gender reassignment
4. Marriage or civil partnership
5. Pregnancy and maternity
6. Race
7. Religion and belief
8. Sex
9. Sexual orientation

The school is committed to tackling all forms of inequality and discrimination, which for may extend beyond the protected characteristics, for example discrimination based on ability, profession or financial circumstances.

It is also unlawful to discriminate by association or perception, such as treating a pupil unfairly based on the protective characteristics of their parents or family members.

Protected characteristics 1 & 4 do not apply to pupils

Please see Appendix 1 for further information and a definition of terms.

3. Eliminating Discrimination

The school is aware of its obligations under the Equality Act 2010 and complies with non-discrimination provisions.

- The school promotes attitudes and values that will challenge discriminatory behaviour;
- Pupils have the opportunity to explore discrimination and its impact, through topic and PHSE lessons and the use of key texts in English. They are supported to develop skills which allow them to detect bias, challenge stereotypes and promote equality and justice;
- All Discriminatory Incidents are recorded on CPOMs and reported to the local authority using the online reporting form. The number and nature of any discriminatory incidents are reported to the governing board termly;
- Discriminatory incidents are treated seriously. The school's Behaviour Policy sets out the sanctions to be used;
- When a Discriminatory Incident occurs, the school carefully considers the need for any follow up action. Examples of such actions include the delivery of additional year group phse sessions by the phase leader to explore why the use of certain words/ phrases is discriminatory, how their use can impact on others and why this is unacceptable.
- Where relevant, our policies include reference to the importance of avoiding discrimination and other prohibited conduct.
- New staff receive training on the Equality Act as part of their induction and other staff and governors receive regular reminders of their responsibilities under the Equality Act, for example during meetings. Where this has been discussed during a meeting it is recorded in the meeting minutes.
- The school has a designated member of staff for monitoring equality issues, and an equality link governor. They regularly liaise regarding any issues and make senior leaders and governors aware of these as appropriate

4. Advancing equality of opportunity

As set out in the DfE guidance on the Equality Act, the school aims to advance equality of opportunity by:

- Providing a curriculum which ensure quality of access for all pupils and helps prepare them for life in a diverse society;
- Providing displays and resources that reflect diversity across all aspects of equality;
- When ordering new resources, considering how they show equality, provide positive, non-stereotypical images, reflect a range of viewpoints and show the reality of a diverse society;
- Promote and celebrate the contribution of women and different ethnic groups and cultures across all subjects, including the achievements and contributions made by individuals with other protected characteristics, such as Helen Keller and Alan Turing;

- Holding consistently high expectation of all pupils regardless of age, gender, ethnicity, religion, ability or social background;
- Ensuring that lessons meet the needs of all learners, including SEND, EAL and higher ability pupils, for example through the use of a range of teaching strategies, scaffolding, language frameworks, open ended tasks and application of higher order thinking skills;
- Encouraging all pupils to be actively involved in their own learning, using a growth mindset to build on their own achievements, rather than measuring themselves against others. Parents are also encouraged to view their own children's achievements in this light;
- Tracking the performance of individual pupils to ensure that everyone is making the best possible progress. This information is used to adjust future teaching and learning plans, as necessary. End of year targets are set to narrow any gaps in performance and Interventions and resources are available to support groups or individual pupils where information suggests that progress is not as good as it should be. The governing body receives regular updates on pupil performance information.
- Comparing school performance information with national data and Local Authority data, to ensure that pupil groups are making appropriate progress when compared to all schools, and to schools in similar circumstances.
- Making reasonable adjustments to remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by pupils and staff which are connected to a particular characteristic they have. Examples include the provision of specialist equipment and additional breaks;
- Promoting high aspirations for all groups, encouraging pupils to consider the full range of career opportunities available to them with no discriminatory boundaries placed on them due to any of the protected characteristics. Guests for the school's annual career fair are chosen to provide positive role models based on gender and ethnicity;
- Ensuring that pastoral support takes into account disability needs, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, religious and ethnic differences and the experience and needs of particular groups, such as Gypsy Roma and Traveller, refugee and asylum seeker pupils;
- Encouraging people who have a particular characteristic to participate fully in all activities, for example encouraging all pupils to access the full curriculum, clubs and educational visits, including residentials. Equal access to all activities is provided from an early age e.g. girls playing football, boys playing netball and mixed teams wherever possible;
- Taking steps to meet the specific needs of people who have a particular characteristic, for example using occasional closure days to allow pupils and staff to celebrate Eid-ul-Fitr and Eid-al-Adha with their families, supporting UKS2 pupils who wish to fast during Ramadan and avoiding food related events during this time.
- Providing staff with training and development, which will increase awareness of equality and diversity and support staff in meeting the needs of different groups of pupils.
- Supporting the career development and aspirations of all staff member, including equal access to professional development opportunities
- Advertising all posts formally as set out in the school's Recruitment Policy and ensuring that those involved in recruitment and selection are suitably trained to ensure equality good practice is implemented throughout the recruitment and selection process;
- Employment policy and procedures are reviewed regularly to check conformity with legislation and impact;
- Helping all parents to support their child's education and encouraging them to participate in the full life of the school. This includes offering some coffee mornings which target different groups, such as session for dads and somali parents.

In fulfilling this aspect of the duty, the school will publish data:

- Publish attainment data each academic year showing how pupils with different characteristics are performing
- Analyse the above data to determine strengths and areas for improvement, implement actions in response and publish this information
- Make evidence available identifying improvements for specific groups (e.g. declines in racist and homophobic discriminatory incidents)
- Publish further data about any issues associated with particular protected characteristics, identifying any issues which could affect our own pupils

5. Fostering good relations

The school aims to foster good relations between those who share a protected characteristic and those who do not share it by:

- Creating an atmosphere which welcomes everyone to the school;
- Adults modelling the positive approach to equal and diversity that the school expects;
- Promoting respect and understanding of a range of identities through our curriculum;
- Providing opportunities for pupils to appreciate and celebrate their own culture and religion and that of others, for example through the use of festival assemblies;
- Providing positive role models across the school to ensure that different groups of pupils can see themselves reflected in the school community;
- Providing opportunities for pupils to interact with children attending schools with a different ethnic, religious and socio-economic context;
- Monitoring relationships between pupils and providing additional PHSE session where pupils from a different group are being excluded or treated differently;
- Working with parents to promote knowledge and understanding of people with different backgrounds and identities, for example through coffee mornings and cultural events;
- Promoting the appropriate use of language by all members of the school community, so as not to offend, transmit or confirm stereotypes, including the correct use of terminology in referring to particular groups or individuals (e.g. Inuit rather Eskimo); so as to create positive images of different groups, which support the development of self esteem;
- Emphasising the value that diversity brings to the school community and holding events to promote this;
- Promoting cultural and religious events in the local area to all staff and parents and encouraging members of the local community to regularly join in school activities, such as the summer fete, make it real presentations and festival assemblies

6. Equality considerations in decision making

The school ensures it has due regard to equality considerations whenever significant decisions are made. An Equality Impact Assessment is completed at the time when school policies are being developed and is then kept under review on a continuing basis. See Appendix 2

7. Equality objectives

Each year the school publishes data which shows the school's current context.

The school also publishes equality objectives at least once every four years. The equality objectives for 2021-25 are:

Objective 1: To promote cultural development and understanding through a rich range of experiences

To achieve this objective we plan to engage in an ongoing programme of visits across the communities we serve and to host a regular programme of visitors to our schools to share different perspectives, faiths and cultures

Objective 2: Actively close gaps in attainment and achievement between pupils and all groups of pupils; especially disadvantaged pupils, children with special educational needs and disabilities and looked after children

To achieve this objective we plan to modify provision in order to meet all children's needs and interests. Introduce more specific interventions for Literacy and Numeracy. Improve parental engagement by coming into our schools and being part of the learning experience

Objective 3: Address any differences in attendance and use of behaviour sanctions/awards to ensure all pupils are able to achieve their full potential

To achieve this objective we will continue to monitor attendance rates and the allocation of good news text and red cards. Where rates vary by group, we will investigate the reasons for this and take actions to address the cause.

Objective 4: To increase diversity in decision making

To achieve this objective we will seek to increase the involvement and participation of parents and carers, who have protected characteristics or are from vulnerable groups, and will set targets to help ensure that membership of the governing body reflects the diversity of modern Britain.

8. Responsibility for the Policy

In our school, all members of the school community have a responsibility towards supporting the equality agenda. Responsibilities are laid out as follows:

Policy adopted: Autumn 2021

The core concepts and terminology in the Public Sector Duty are drawn from the Race Equality duty (RED) that was formulated in section 71 of the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000. The wording of the RED was used later as a model for formulating the Disability Equality Duty (DED) that came into force in 2005, and for the Gender Equality Duty (GED) that came into force in 2007.

The UK Government's Equality Act 2010 restated, simplified, and, where appropriate, harmonised the various different pieces of equality legislation that had been produced over the last 40 years. The bulk of the Act came into force on 1st October 2010.

The Equality Act 2010 (Specific Duties) Regulations 2012 came into force at the end of May 2012. The specific duties are focused on outcomes, and encourage the integration of equality considerations in the core business of public authorities.

Auxiliary Aids

The Act extends the reasonable adjustment duty to require schools to provide auxiliary aids and services to disabled pupils. Following consultation on implementation and approach, the duty came into force on 1 September 2012.

The Equality Act 2010 (Amended 2012) has replaced all previous discrimination law. Whilst all members of the school community are protected by The Equality Act, this policy focuses mainly on our pupils, and includes our responsibilities, as outlined in the Public Sector Equality Duty..

The 9 Protected Characteristics – Definition of Terms

Age is a relevant characteristic, when considering our duties in our role as an employer, so that they do not experience discrimination, but not in relation to our pupils.

Our School, therefore, remains free to admit and organise children in age groups, and to treat pupils in ways appropriate to their age and stage of development, without risk of legal challenge.

Disability - Special provisions for Disability

The law on disability discrimination is different from the rest of the Act in a number of ways. In particular, it works in only one direction – that is to say, it protects disabled people, but not people who are not disabled.

Our Accessibility Plan outlines how we will improve access for disabled pupils to the physical environment, increase the extent to which our disabled pupils can participate in the curriculum, and how we improve the availability of accessible information to disabled pupils.

In the Equality Act, 'disability' is defined as follows:

'A person has a disability for the purposes of this Act if he/she has a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on his/her ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities.'

Not all children with disabilities will have Special Education Needs- the Department for Education defines children with Special Education Needs as:

'Having learning difficulties or disabilities which make it harder for them to learn or access education than most other children of the same age.'

There can be a significant overlap between the two groups and a child may fall within one or more of the definitions.

The Equality Act makes it illegal to discriminate against a person with a disability for a reason related to their disability. It is also illegal to have rules, policies or practices which apply to everyone but which may disadvantage people with disabilities. Our school is required to make reasonable adjustments to allow children with disabilities to fully take part in the activities. These requirements are derived from the Disability Discrimination Act-

Gender Reassignment is defined in the Equality Act as applying to anyone, who is undergoing, has undergone, or is proposing to undergo a process (or part of a process) of reassigning their sex, by changing physiological or other attributes of sex.

Marriage & Civil Partnership It is possible for Gay and Lesbian couples to register a civil partnership, which gives them many of the same rights as a married couple. The Equality Act of 2010 protects employees, who are in a civil partnership or marriage, against discrimination.

Pregnancy and Maternity It is unlawful for us to dismiss an employee, because they are or have been pregnant, or for reasons connected with their pregnancy or maternity leave.

Race - includes colour, nationality and ethnic or national origins. Our school ensures that all members of our school community are not singled out for less / more favourable treatment because of their race.

Religion or Belief. The Equality Act defines “religion” as being any religion, and “belief” as any religious or philosophical belief. A lack of religion or a lack of belief are also protected characteristics.

Sex It is unlawful to discriminate against anyone because of sex.

Sexual Orientation is defined as: emotional, mental and physical attraction to someone based on their sex and/or gender in relation to your own.’

Unlawful Behaviour - Definition of terms

Direct Discrimination – treating someone less favourably than others, because of a protected characteristic.

Indirect Discrimination – when a ‘provision, criterion or practice’ is applied generally, but has the effect of disadvantaging people with a particular protected characteristic.

Harassment – unwanted conduct, related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating a person’s dignity, or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person.

Where schools are concerned, the offence of harassment, as defined in this way in the Act, applies only to harassment because of disability, race, sex or pregnancy and maternity, and not to religion or belief, sexual orientation or gender reassignment. It is very important to recognise that this does not mean that schools are free to bully or harass pupils on these other grounds - to do so would still be unlawful as well as unacceptable. Any case against the school would be on grounds of direct discrimination rather than harassment.

Victimisation – when a person is treated less favourably than they might otherwise have been, because of something they have done in connection with the Act (for example, making an allegation of discrimination, or supporting another person’s complaint by giving evidence).

Institutional Discrimination

The collective failure of a school to provide an appropriate and professional service to people, because of their characteristic / difference. It can be seen or detected in processes, attitudes and behaviour, which amount to discrimination through unwitting prejudice, ignorance and stereotyping, which disadvantage individuals/groups.

A Racist Incident

Any incident, which is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person – Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000. Allegations, which must be investigated

“Racism consists of conduct or words or practices, which disadvantage or advantage people, because of their colour, culture or ethnic origin. It can be subtle or overt, intentional or unwitting. It can be personal – name-calling, abuse, harassment and violence.”

Discriminatory Incidents

Discrimination consists of conduct or words or practices, which disadvantage or advantage people because of their difference. It can be subtle or overt, intentional or unwitting. It can be personal – name-calling, abuse, harassment and violence.

It can be any incident, which is perceived to be discriminatory by the victim or any other person.

Association

It is also unlawful to discriminate because of a protected characteristic of another person, with whom the pupil is associated.

So, for example, a school must not discriminate by refusing to admit a pupil because his parents are gay men or lesbians. It would be race discrimination to treat a White pupil less favourably because she has a Black boyfriend.

Perception

It is also unlawful to discriminate, because of a characteristic, which you think a person has, even if you are mistaken. So, a teacher who consistently picks on a pupil for being gay will be discriminating, because of sexual orientation, whether or not the pupil is in fact gay.
