

BANJI ALEXANDER

Late for School

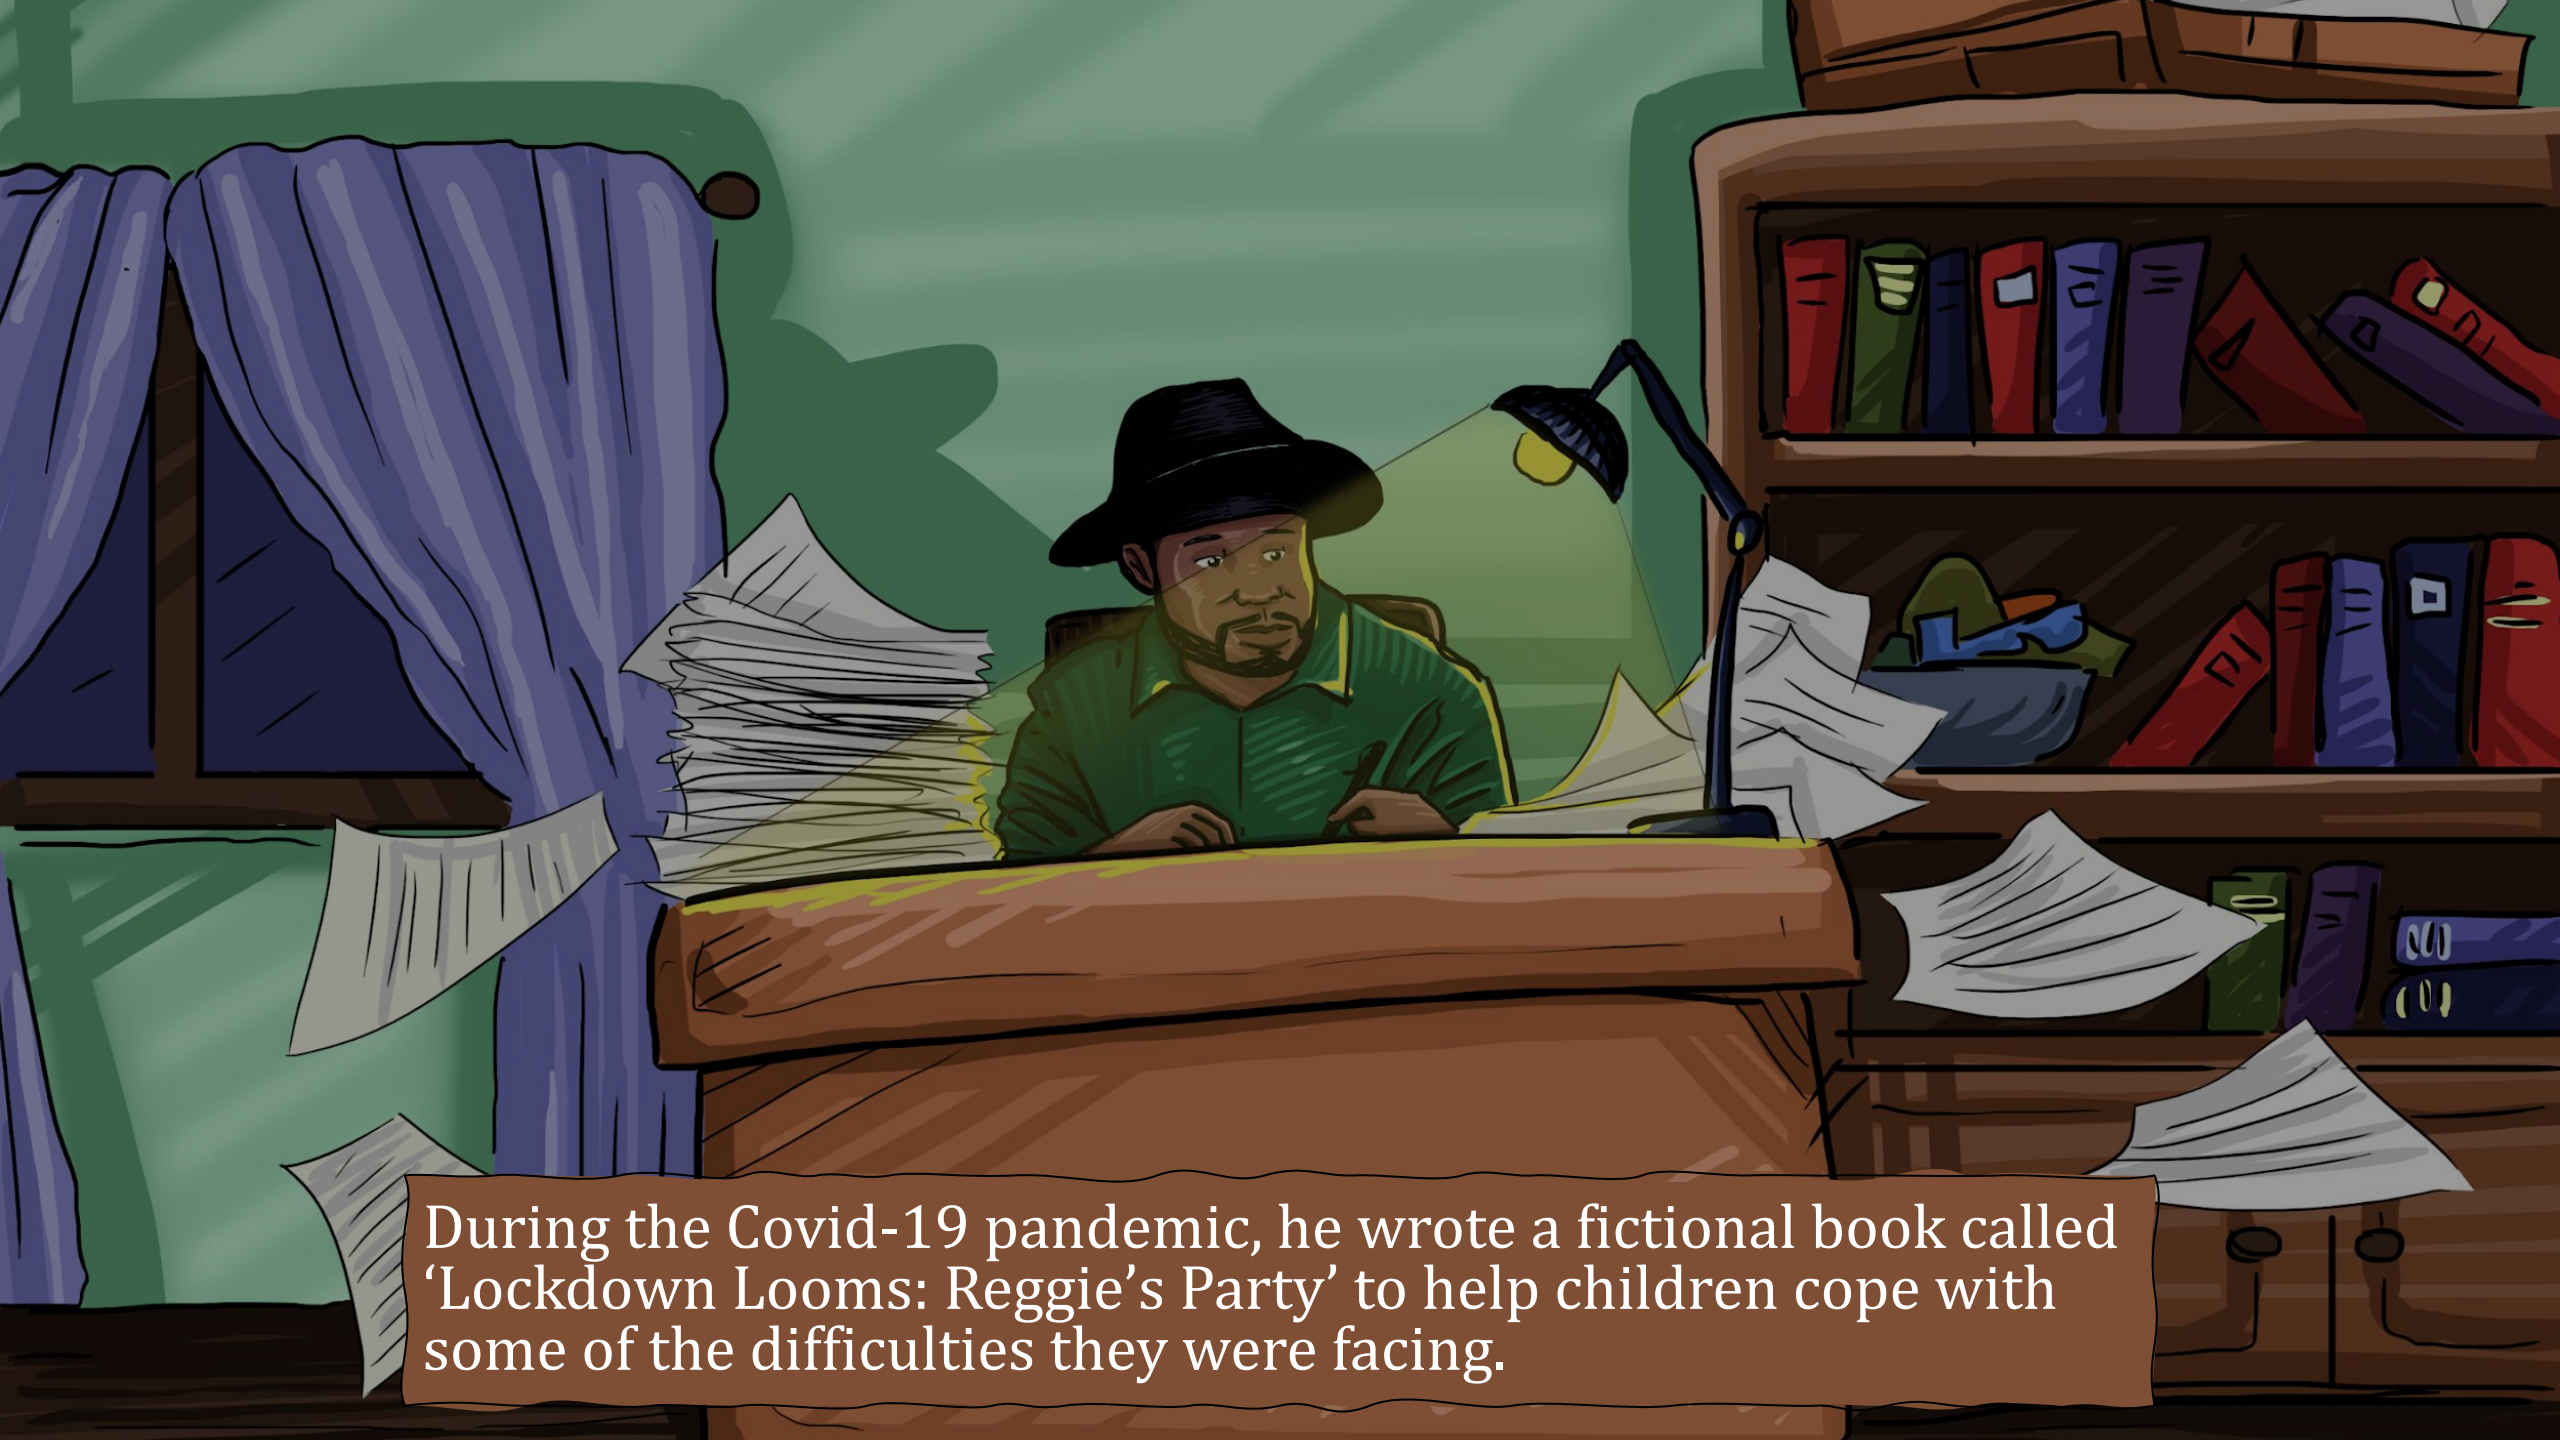

Watch Lockdown Looms Advert

(Click link):

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CeOt8O-4kcc&t=2s>

Banji Alexander is a British author from England, United Kingdom, born to Nigerian parents.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, he wrote a fictional book called 'Lockdown Looms: Reggie's Party' to help children cope with some of the difficulties they were facing.

What type of difficulties do you think children faced during the pandemic?

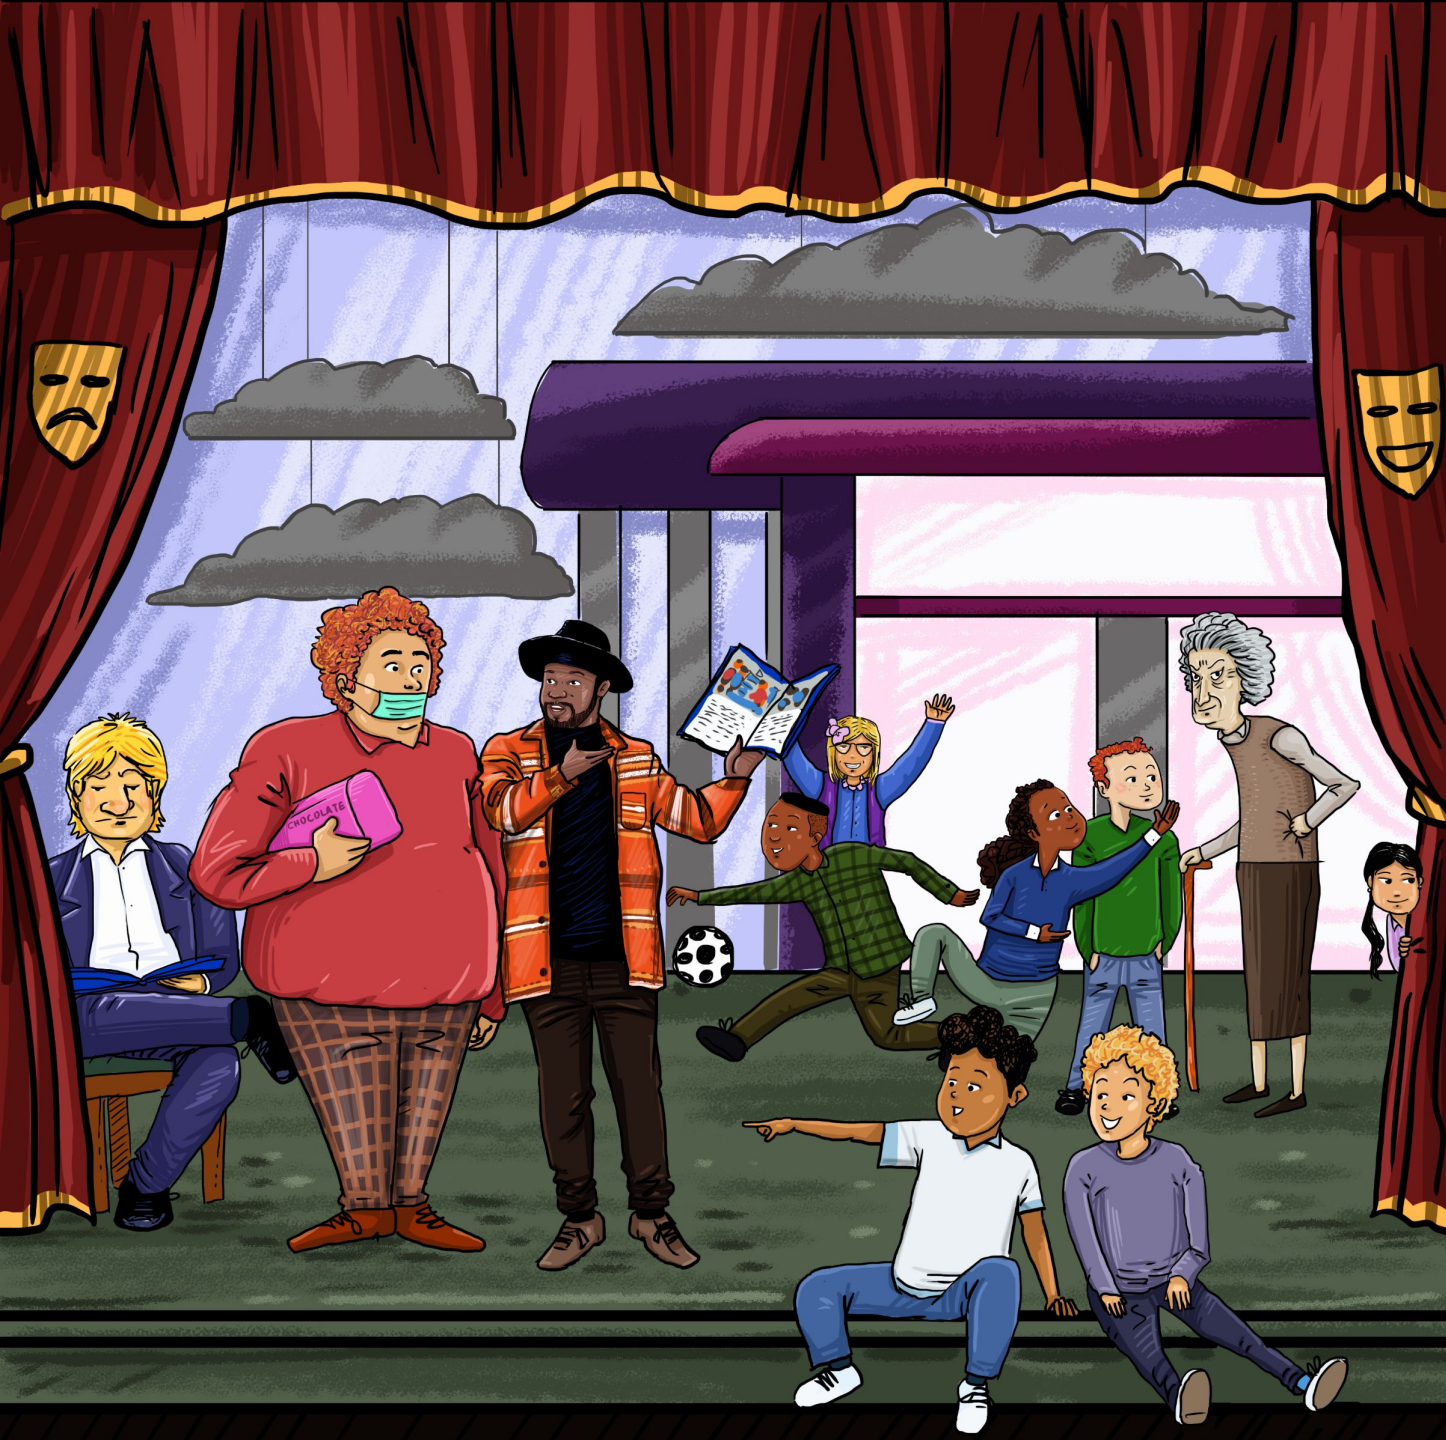

After being published, Banji's book became really popular, really fast!

Lots of news channels wanted to interview Banji about his book, and famous politicians were talking about Banji and writing to him to say, well done.

Banji wrote the book hoping it would help the children he knew at the time. He had no idea it would become so popular.

The book is currently being adapted into a musical, which means that soon, adults and children will be able to see it performed live on stage with songs!

Banji's always enjoyed writing since he was a child in primary school and hopes his success can inspire more children to become excited about reading and writing.

If you could meet Banji Alexander, what questions would you ask him?

Well, Banji Alexander is going to be visiting our school to talk about his special book, and you can buy a signed copy!

Make sure you have your questions ready for when you meet Banji, it's going to be such a fun visit!

If you want to purchase a copy of this book. Please place £10 into an envelope with your name on it and give this to your class teacher by Monday 7th November.

See You Soon!

Press Clippings.

Banji on the News and in the Media!

Visit the following link.
(Click link):

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dKgCcZd43To>